Opening: 27 July 2021, from 5:30 p.m.

Exhibition: 28 July 2021 – 16 January 2022

The exhibition at Museum Brandhorst is the artist's largest solo show to date, and it seeks to capture her sculptural repertoire of forms from "A-Z"; from her exploration of textiles and the cultural technique of knotting, to the congruence of the human body and its environment, to almost living and organic-seeming machines.

"I am concerned with our immediate environment. The architecture in which we move, as well as the fabrics in which we wrap ourselves. Ultimately, it always comes back to the protection and, at the same time, the vulnerability of our bodies. Our skin is also a shell and at the same time the interface between inside and outside. This is where I start."

— Alexandra Bircken

The Berlin-based artist (*1967) has been Professor of Sculpture at the Academy of Fine Arts Munich since 2018, and is known for her sculptures and installations, for which she draws on an unusual range of materials: from everyday objects such as hair-dye packaging, rocking horses and sawn-up motorcycles, through textiles in handmade and machine-processed form to organic matter such as wood, leather, bones, or even a placenta. Anything that surrounds us can become a sculptural medium. Her approach is characterized by an examination of the human body, its needs, desires, and relationship to its environment. Highly topical questions such as the need for protection of the individual, gender identity in its ambivalence, and the relationship between humans and machines inevitably resonate in Bircken's sculptures.

The exhibition „Alexandra Bircken: A-Z“ brings together works from throughout her practice: from the first sculpture completed in Bircken's store-front studio "Alex" in Cologne in 2003 to installations that she conceived especially for the space at Museum Brandhorst. Rather than proceeding chronologically, this show uses themes and formal concepts to progress through the artist's oeuvre.

The exhibition is accompanied by a comprehensive publication. In addition to a large picture essay, six contributions by internationally renowned authors examine the artist's work from different perspectives.
